

ENTERTAINMENT CONSULTANCY SERVICES - JOINT VENTURES – SINFONIA MUSIC FESTIVAL

“SINFONIA” – Italian word for Symphony – orchestral piece used as introduction, interlude or postlude to an opera, oratorio, cantata, suite of music”.

The owner of Entertainment Equities / Sinfonia (Kevin Moore) has over thirty years experience in the international television, international film, international stage, and international events industries and he has worked at a senior management level in project development, entertainment financing, event production, and digital and social media marketing (including the setting up of associated online ecommerce stores) – he also freelances as a TV, film, and stage director.

A detailed personal and corporate biography is on our website under “About the Production Company”.

His international experience, together with the staff of Entertainment Equities, is now available to consult on your project through our associate “SINFONIA” – that company is also developing the international “Sinfonia Music Festival” (for contemporary orchestral music).

We can write a song, produce a major touring musical, produce a feature film or television documentary, produce a small cost effective charity fund raising, or a corporate promotional event - in any area of entertainment !

Have us write a song or script for your project, have us raise the production finance, have us produce or co-produce the project, and then nationally or internationally market the project - a speciality, is the organisation of entertainment for corporate or charity events.

We also welcome submission of entertainment projects that may be suitable for joint ventures with Entertainment Equities / Sinfonia, please email us for a complimentary consultancy cost estimate on your entertainment project or submit your proposed joint venture project for our consideration.
